DEPARTMENT OF LANDS AND FORESTS

INSTRUCTIONS REGARDING THE LEGAL SURVEY OF RIGHTS-OF-WAY (EX- CLUDING HIGHWAY, RAILWAY, AND OTHER PROJECTS FOR WHICH SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS MAY BE ISSUED).

1. The following instructions and information have been compiled to govern the survey of the subject rights-of-way and the preparation of plans of same. They are intended to be amplifications of, and not contraventions of, any relevant provisions of the "Land Registry Act," and should be read in conjunction with same. These instructions supersede the Instructions regarding the Survey of Rights-of-way (Other than Highways) Crossing Crown Lands, dated July 15th, 1953, which are hereby cancelled.

Posting

2. (a) The exterior boundaries shall be posted with square iron posts or angle iron posts in accordance with the provisions set out under Type 5 of clause 6 of the Surveyor-General's regulations, dated March 5th, 1951. These posts shall be established at each angle of the right-of-way, at commencement and closing points, and at all intersections with existing surveyed boundaries, or at points witnessing any of these. Each iron post shall be referenced by a triangular wooden post marked "I.P." on the broad side and set about 8 inches away from and facing the iron post. If the right-of-way does not exceed 20 feet in width, posting need be on one boundary only.

(b) On rights-of-way across bodies of water which exceed one-half mile in width, a permanent monument shall be placed at each intersection with such water, referencing one outer boundary.

(c) Each pipe, rock, or standard concrete post established along the right-of-way shall be marked consecutively with serial numbers and, where applicable, with the numbers of adjoining lots or parcels of land.

(d) It shall not be necessary to post intersection with boundaries which exist by description under the "Land Registry Act," nor lines which bound unposted aliquot parts of district lots or sections, nor legal subdivision boundaries within the township system which are unposted, nor boundaries of surveyed timber licences whether they have been allotted a district lot number or not. The aforementioned boundaries should be indicated on the plan and intersections with right-of-way boundaries calculated.

(e) In the former Dominion Railway Belt, lines which are shown dotted on the official township plan are to be treated as lines which exist by description. Where sections are not shown divided into quarters or the quarters not shown divided into legal subdivisions on the official plan, the theoretical divisions need not be shown on the plan being prepared.

(f) It shall not be necessary to post either right-of-way boundary where one such boundary coincides with a lot line within a subdivision plan, and where the lot line itself is posted at its termini. Providing that where a right-of-way exceeds 20 feet in width, the boundary of the right-of-way not represented by such lot line shall be posted at intersections with other lot lines.

(g) On surveys conducted under the "Pipe-lines Act," in addition to the above, pipe posts shall be sited on one outer boundary in pairs, each post to be sited on opposite ends of selected long tangents or points on tangent (intervisibility being of prime importance) and the interval between pairs shall not exceed 1 mile. For every fifth pair there shall be substituted concrete or rock posts, sited with a view to immunity from subsequent disturbance.

Ties

3. (a) The position of any existing boundary of a surveyed parcel, or other right-of-way, which is intersected by the subject right-of-way shall be determined by ties to at least two properly identified existing survey monuments (one on each side of the subject right-of-way) or, failing this, such other ties as will determine the true position of the intersected boundary.

(b) In the case of timber licences, sufficient ties to their surveyed boundaries are required in order to adequately indicate their position on the plan. A tie to one corner will suffice in most cases; however, at intervals of approximately 5 miles, both ends of a timber licence boundary being crossed (providing it was a run line) should be tied in order that an azimuth comparison may be obtained against the original survey of the timber licence.

(c) All prominent water features and unsurveyed roads crossed by the right-of-way are to be tied in and shown on the plan. In the case of unsurveyed travelled roads, ties should be made to the centre line of the travelled road and the boundaries of the road should be established 33 feet or greater, on the advice of the Department of Highways, on either side of the centre line. Posting intersections with boundaries of unsurveyed roads is not required unless one boundary of the road is the terminus of the survey.

(d) Sufficient ties should also be made to determine the area of right-of-way crossing beds of rivers and lakes where the banks of same form natural boundaries in surveyed land.

Accuracy of Survey

4. (a) Bearings shall be derived from astronomical observations and should be taken at the origin of the survey at 5-mile (approximate) intervals, or at least once every forty angles, and at the close of the survey. Alternatively, bearings may be derived from recorded triangulation stations and normally will be referred to a local meridian. In surveys of a minor nature, bearings derived from adjacent existing registered surveys will be permissible.

(b) The survey shall be made to a minimum standard of accuracy of one in twenty-five hundred (1/2500). Through unsurveyed areas, the centre line shall be double-chained or a closed circuit obtained by traverse or triangulation. Through surveyed areas where comparison with former surveys fails to produce an agreement to the above standard, the measurement in disagreement should be repeated or a closed figure obtained.

Preparations of Returns

5. The required returns for the survey as outlined above shall consist of a plan representing the work done on the ground and drawn to scale on tracing-linen in accordance with the following:—

(a) Each plan shall show the boundary dimensions, the area of the right-of-way required, and the width at frequent intervals. It should be on the scale of 400 feet to 1 inch, or larger should conditions require. Detailed drawings should be added where the prevailing scale, though satisfactory for the plan as a whole, is too small to show clearly full details at every point. The length of the plan shall be limited to that stipulated by the Land Registry Office in which it is to be deposited and should never, except in special cases, exceed 20 feet.

(b) The plan shall show a north point and scale, also the method used for determining azimuth. In the event it is necessary to change the reference meridian, the bearing equation shall be clearly shown on the plan. The origin of the bearings shall be clearly stated and, if not being a point on the plan, shall not be more than 5 miles in departure from the centre of the plan. In special cases where extensive recorded triangulation has been used to control the right-of-way survey, the azimuth may be referred to the same origin as the triangulation system. In this event the plan shall clearly show the values of the convergence from the origin to points on the plan at 5-mile intervals.

(c) The plan shall be given a title, in the usual form, indicating the locality and district in which the right-of-way is situated, and it should be placed at the right-hand end of plan.

- (d) The plan shall contain a list or book of reference, placed in close proximity to the title, giving the legal description of surveyed parcels crossed by the right-of-way in a progressive order and the area of the right-of-way taken in each parcel, including parcels created by description as in 2 (e) and 2 (f). The length of the centre line must be tabulated for parcels in the Crown Provincial.
- (e) Provincial Crown lands shall be listed separately.
- (f) The plan shall contain a legend giving details of the various monuments shown on the plan, using the standard symbols given in the regulations mentioned above (2 (a)) so far as they apply.
- (g) The plan shall include the surveyor's oath in Form L.
- (h) Serial numbers stamped on monuments on the ground shall be shown on the face of the plan in such a manner as to identify the monument on the plan.

Where the Right-of-way Crosses Crown Lands

6. Rights-of-way crossing Crown lands required for any purpose, other than public highway, should be applied for under the provisions of the "Land Act," which provides for the granting of an easement, lease, or Crown grant. The allowance of such an application will include the requirement of a legal survey and the deposit of a plan of same with the Surveyor-General.

- (a) The surveyor should request instructions from the Surveyor-General before commencing such a survey across Crown lands.
- (b) Fundamentally the policy is that Crown lands are shown on a separate plan from alienated lands, and no departure from this policy should be assumed unless approval has been obtained from the Surveyor-General.
- (c) In cases where the amount of surveyed Crown land involved in comparison to alienated land is very small, the Surveyor-General, with agreement of the Registrar concerned, may grant permission to use the same plan. In no case where unsurveyed Crown land is crossed by the right-of-way will it be possible to include Crown and alienated land on the same plan.
- (d) In any event where Crown lands are shown on a plan, before the final linen prints are made on a survey of some magnitude, the surveyor may submit two paper prints of his completed plan to the Surveyor-General for examination.
- (e) One print will be returned to the surveyor with a report of the required amendments, if any, after which the number of linen plans to be submitted to the Surveyor-General will vary as follows:—
- (f) Normal.—When the plan covers right-of-way through Crown land only:—
  - (1) If no registrable (in the Land Registry Office) easement is required, one original linen plan.
  - (2) If a registrable easement is required, one original tracing and two acceptable machine-made linen transparencies, and one opaque linen print.
- (g) Exception.—When the plan covers right-of-way through both Crown and alienated lands:—
  - (1) If no registrable easement is required over Crown lands, one original linen plan or one acceptable machine-made linen transparency.
  - (2) If a registrable easement is required over the Crown land, two acceptable machine-made linen transparencies and one opaque linen print, certified by the Registrar to be true copies of the registered plan. One of these transparencies will be used as the Department's "official plan" and one will be redeposited in the Land Registry

Office (together with the opaque linen print) with the necessary additions to the plan required for Crown lands.

(3) No Crown lands should be coloured red on any plan deposited by any person (under the "Land Registry Act") other than the Surveyor-General.

Effective June 15th, 1956.

Surveyor-General.

INSTRUCTIONS REGARDING THE LEGAL SURVEY OF RAILWAY RIGHTS-OF-WAY

1. The following instructions and information have been compiled to govern the survey of above-mentioned rights-of-way and the preparation of plans of same. They are intended to be amplifications of, and not contraventions of, any relevant provisions of the "Land Act," "Land Registry Act," or any instructions previously issued by the Surveyor-General, and should be read in conjunction with same.

Widenings

2. When widenings to the right-of-way are necessary in order to include cuts, fills, small marginal areas, etc. they shall, when on Crown land, be bounded where possible by a series of straight lines in order to conform to topography and exclude excess areas. When any such widenings are on privately owned lands, they should be surveyed to conform to the wishes of the railway company in accordance with arrangements between the company's right-of-way department and the owner. If no final agreement based on location plan has been finalized, it is suggested that the widenings through private lands be treated the same as through Crown lands.

Distances

3. Distances along the centre line are to be chained in feet and reverse-chained in links, both measures to be of consistent precision. Final chainages are to be expressed in feet to the nearest hundredth of a foot and shall be the average of the two chainages. An accuracy of one five-thousandth is to be maintained.

Bearings

4. Bearings shall be derived from stellar observations. These should be taken at the origin of the survey, at 5-mile intervals, or at least once every forty angles of the main traverse, and at the close of the survey. Alternatively, bearings may be derived from recorded triangulation stations and normally will be referred to a local meridian. A maximum tolerance or discrepancy of 20 seconds per mile between the observed bearing and the bearing by account after convergence has been applied shall be permitted. Any such acceptable discrepancy shall be adjusted by distributing the error between the main traverse angles concerned.

Type of Monument

5. The types of standard survey-posts to be used are as follows:—

- (a) The standard concrete, rock, or pipe post, referenced with B.T.s where available, and as described in the current Instructions regarding Permanent Survey Monuments issued by the Surveyor-General under the "Land Act."
- (b) An iron post of Type 5 (B.C.L.S. bar) as described in the current Regulations regarding Surveys and Plans made in compliance with the "Land Registry Act" and issued by the Surveyor-General, with an accompanying wooden reference stake painted white, of triangular cross-section with one face approximately 4 inches broad, and appropriately marked and set about 8 inches away from and facing the iron post.

Monumentation

6. Standard survey-posts shall be established on one of the outer boundaries or as reference to it in accordance with the following:—

- (a) Standard pipe posts at the beginning and end of curves and, if necessary, at intermediate points so that the distance between adjacent monuments will not exceed three-quarters of a mile.
- (b) Standard concrete or rock posts are to be substituted for the pipe posts at intervals not exceeding 5 miles and should be sited in pairs on each end of a long tangent at a suitable offset from the centre line in order that they may in future be of use for azimuth derivation. Intervisibility is of prime importance.
- (c) Standard pipe posts on one right-of-way boundary at intersections with district lot, section, or block boundaries (this does not include timber licence boundaries, which should be tied in but need not be posted).
- (d) Iron posts on both right-of-way boundaries at intersections with any type of surveyed boundary not referred to in (c).
- (e) Iron posts at all other relevant points on the side opposite to the main monumenting (see (a), (b), and (c)).
- (f) It shall not be necessary to post intersection with boundaries which exist by description under the "Land Registry Act," nor lines which bound unposted aliquot parts of district lots or sections, nor legal subdivision boundaries within the township system which are unposted, nor boundaries of surveyed timber licences whether they have been allotted a district lot number or not. The aforementioned boundaries should be indicated on the plan and intersections with right-of-way boundaries calculated.
- (g) In the former Dominion Railway Belt, lines which are shown dotted on the official township plan are to be treated as lines which exist by description. Where sections are not shown divided into quarters or the quarters not shown divided into legal subdivisions on the official plan, the theoretical divisions need not be shown on the plan being prepared.

7. In subdivided or well-settled areas where there is interference by fences or other structures, the standard pipe posts or iron posts shall be set on an offset toward the centre of the right-of-way. Where possible they should be sited at a point which is on the production of an intersecting boundary or on the radius at a point of curve.

Ties to Surveys

8. The position of any existing boundary of a surveyed parcel, or other right-of-way, which is intersected by the subject right-of-way shall be determined by ties to at least two properly identified existing survey monuments (one on each side of the subject right-of-way) or, failing this, such other ties as will determine the true position of the intersected boundary.

9. In the case of timber licences, sufficient ties to their surveyed boundaries are required in order to adequately indicate their position on the plan. A tie to one corner will suffice in most cases; however, at intervals of approximately 5 miles, both ends of a timber licence boundary being crossed (providing it was a run line) should be tied in order that an azimuth comparison may be obtained against the original survey of the timber licence.

10. All prominent water features and unsurveyed roads crossed by the right-of-way are to be tied in and shown on the plan. In the case of unsurveyed travelled roads, ties should be made to the centre line of the travelled road, and the boundaries of the road should be established 33 feet or greater, on the advice of the Department of Highways, on either side of the centre line and intersections posted with iron posts of Type 5.

11. All corners of district lots or sections tied in by this survey shall be replaced by standard pipe or rock posts. Corners of timber licences which are located shall be replaced by iron posts of Type 5.

12. Standard pipe or rock posts shall be marked appropriately to indicate (1) the official designations of the lands en route, (2) the surveyor's commission number, and (3) the serial number assigned to each post. The method of stamping these and the relevant lot, section, or block number on the post shall be in accordance with the Instructions regarding Permanent Survey Monuments issued by the Surveyor-General. In the case of standard posts set to mark changes in direction of right-of-way boundaries, or as reference to the centre line, the following abbreviations shall be used as applicable:—

P.C.—Point of curve, beginning or end of curve.

P.O.T.—Point on tangent, subtangent, or subtangent produced.

P.I.—Point of intersection.

R/W—Right-of-way being surveyed.

Substitution of Spiral Curves on Located Centre Lines

13. To simplify survey, plans, and descriptions, it is considered desirable to eliminate in railway surveys, whenever possible, particularly through Crown lands, spiral curves now in general use in the location of most curves sharper than 2 degrees.

The method suggested is to replace the "as constructed" spiral-circular-spiral curve assembly with one circular curve having the same radius as the original main circular curve. The limits of tolerance of the small displacement due to this may be referred to in detailed survey instructions. In cases, however, where the displacement would be considered excessive due to interference with private ownership, fencing, etc., the spiral curves should be replaced by terminal curves.

Technical details governing the replacement of spiral curves by terminal curves can be obtained in the following:—

- (a) P.R.A. handbook, "Transition Curves for Highways," pages 49 and 50, obtainable from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C.
- (b) "Transition and Terminal Curves," obtainable from the Secretary, Corporation of British Columbia Land Surveyors.
- (c) C.P.R. spiral tables and amendment, "Terminal Curves Replacing Spirals."

Preparation of Returns

14. The required returns for the survey as outlined above shall consist of a plan representing the work done on the ground and drawn to scale on tracing-linen in accordance with the following:—

- (a) Each plan shall show the boundary dimensions, the area of the right-of-way required, and the width at frequent intervals. It should be on the scale of 400 feet to 1 inch, or larger should conditions require. Detailed drawings should be added where the prevailing scale, though satisfactory for the plan as a whole, is too small to show clearly full details at every point. The length of the plan shall be limited to that stipulated by the Land Registry Office in which it is to be deposited and should never, except in special cases, exceed 20 feet.
- (b) The plan shall show a north point and scale, also the method used for determining azimuth. In the event it is necessary to change the reference meridian, the bearing equation shall be clearly shown on the plan. The origin of the bearings shall be clearly stated and, if not being a point on the plan, shall not be more than 5 miles in departure from the centre of the plan. In special cases where extensive recorded triangulation has been used to control the right-of-way survey, the azimuth may be referred to the same origin as the triangulation system. In this event the plan shall clearly show the values of the convergence from the origin to points on the plan at 5-mile intervals.
- (c) On a curved boundary the length of the arc appearing on the plan shall be calculated on the arc definition formula, though the radius used for such calculation will be the chord definition radius as used in the location of the railroad centre line and in the stationing at the points of curve (of value to the railroad only). An explanatory note to this effect should appear in the legend.

- (d) The plan shall be given a title, in the usual form, indicating the locality and district in which the right-of-way is situated, and it should be placed at the right-hand end of plan.
- (e) The plan shall contain a list or book of reference, placed in close proximity to the title, giving the numbers of surveyed lots, timber licences, and parcels of vacant Crown land crossed by the right-of-way and the area of the right-of-way taken in each lot or parcel.
- (f) The plan shall contain a legend giving details of the various monuments shown on the plan, using the standard symbols given in the current Instructions regarding Permanent Survey Monuments issued by the Surveyor-General under the "Land Act" as far as they apply.
- (g) Details of the main traverse shall be shown on the plan in the form of a traverse table. Station, bearing, distance, total latitude, and total departure are required.
- (h) The surveyor may first submit two paper prints of the completed plan, prior to colouring, to this office for examination as to Departmental requirements and as to status. One print will be returned to the surveyor, with a report of required amendments if necessary.
- (i) The Crown-grant plans, consisting of one hand-made tracing on linen and two linen transparency machine-made copies, preferably of the Photact process, shall be submitted to the Surveyor-General, together with a covering letter. Any unusual features connected with the survey should be referred to, with particular mention of missing monuments or large errors found in any survey crossed by the right-of-way.

Effective June 15th, 1956.

(f) Evidence of title to or option to purchase the land required for the project:

(g) Written evidence of approval of the site, from the health point of view, by the local Medical Health Officer:

(h) Evidence of approval of site by local Municipal Council and other local public authority, if any, with jurisdiction over zoning:

(i) A description of the cemetery when developed as planned; and where development is to be carried out in stages, a statement of the order of development and the required description for each section:

(j) A detailed statement of the plan for future care and maintenance of the property, whether by way of use of public or charitable funds, the setting-up of a fund from part of the proceeds of sales, or otherwise:

(k) In the case of a cemetery operated for profit, a performance bond or other reasonable assurance acceptable to the Commission that the proposed development will be carried out.

3. Filing of Plans, etc., Where Certificate Not Required.—Every owner of a cemetery, columbarium, or crematorium, any part of which was established before the law required a certificate of public convenience and necessity, shall file with the Commission, within thirty days after the commencement of these regulations, the information which would otherwise be obtained by the Commission under Regulation 2 on an application for a certificate. Where a cemetery is being developed in stages, the detailed development plans are required to be filed under this regulation only for the developed parts or parts where development and sale had commenced prior to January 1st, 1956.

4. Additional Certificate When Initial Plans Incomplete.—When the plans required to be filed pursuant to Regulation 2 or 3 show the detailed development plans for a part of the property but not for the remainder, the remainder shall be held in reserve for cemetery, columbarium, or crematorium use but shall not be used until authorized for such use by a further certificate of public convenience and necessity. On an application for such a certificate respecting any part of the remaining property, the detailed development plans for that part will then be required.

5. Special Clause in Certificate When Title Not Complete.—When the applicant for a certificate of public convenience and necessity has not a clear title to the land to be used, the Commission may, if it sees fit, issue a certificate with a condition prohibiting the use of the property as a cemetery, crematorium, or columbarium until such time as proof of title has been received and acknowledged by the Commission.

6. Commencement of Use of Cemetery for Burials.—No owner of a cemetery or columbarium shall, without the consent of the Commission, permit the placing of human remains in any part thereof that has not been developed to the standard in other comparable previously used parts, if any, nor in accordance with the plans filed under these regulations.

7. Use of Cemetery for Non-cemetery Purposes.—No owner of a cemetery, columbarium, or crematorium shall, without the consent of the Commission, use for any purpose not associated with or incidental to the care and disposal of human remains any part of its property which is used or has been set aside for use as a cemetery, columbarium, or crematorium.

8. Maintenance of Cemetery Property.—Every owner of a cemetery, crematorium, or columbarium shall maintain the property in a proper state of repair and in a neat, tidy condition. Where the owner can show to the satisfaction of the Commission that he is without funds necessary for the purpose and is unable to obtain them, the Commission may grant such owner relief from the foregoing provisions of this regulation to the extent it deems necessary. If no permanent business office is maintained at the site, every owner of a cemetery, crematorium, or columbarium shall display in plain view at the entrance thereof a notice setting out the name of the cemetery, crematorium, or columbarium and the name and address of the manager or caretaker.

9. Rights of Plot-holders, etc., as to Use of Plots.—No owner of a cemetery shall restrict the right of the owners of lots and plots therein to purchase monuments or grave-markers from any source for placing on the lot or plot, except in accordance with rules filed pursuant to Regulation 10 or established by the Public Utilities Commission as special regulations for that cemetery under the "Cemeteries Act"; provided that where the owner undertakes to provide the service and has established reasonable charges for placing monuments or grave-markers supplied by others and has filed such charges with the Commission, such owner may prohibit the placing by any other person.

10. Filing of Cemetery By-laws.—On and after May 1st, 1956, no by-law, rule, or regulation made before, on, or after that date by any owner of a cemetery or columbarium which purports to restrict in any way the rights of owners of lots, plots, or other places for storing human remains or the rights of the general public in the cemetery or columbarium or otherwise regulates matters which the Commission has power to deal with by regulation shall be valid in respect of such restriction or regulation unless it has been filed with the Public Utilities Commission and published in the same manner as schedules of rates are required by Regulation 12 to be published. The filing of such by-law, rule, or regulation shall not give it any validity it would not otherwise have in the absence of this regulation.

11. Schedules of Rates for Lots, Plots, etc.—Every person who, at the date of publication of these regulations in The British Columbia Gazette, is an owner of a cemetery, columbarium, or crematorium shall, within thirty days thereafter, submit for filing, pursuant to section 17 of the "Public Utilities Act," schedules of rates for all property and services offered for sale which are under the jurisdiction of the Commission. Thereafter, every owner of a cemetery, columbarium, or crematorium shall file schedules of all such rates before offering the property or services for sale. The prices for the sale of graves or other places for storing human remains, shall be shown by reference to plans filed with the Commission. Where it is intended that rates for any particular property will be increased according to the stage of development of the property, the rates applicable at all stages of development must be filed at the time of the filing of the rates for the first stage. The filing of schedules of rates shall not be completed until they are formally accepted by the Commission for filing and notice thereof has been given by the Commission to the person submitting them. Every application for consent to an amendment of a rate schedule shall be accompanied by a proposed new schedule suitable for filing or by appropriate revised pages of the filed schedule.

12. Publication of Rates.—Every person required to file schedules of rates under these regulations shall keep a complete copy thereof, as filed pursuant to these regulations, at every one of his business offices where contracts of sale for the property or services are completed, shall make it plain to prospective purchasers by adequate notices that such complete information is available on request, and shall make it available on request.

13. Form of Contract for Sale of Property Not Available for Immediate Use.—No owner of a cemetery or columbarium shall offer property for sale that is not available for immediate use except in accordance with a form of contract set out in the schedule of rates and approved by the Commission on the filing of the schedule. The contract shall contain a standard condition binding the seller to provide alternative property for the use of the purchaser reasonably comparable to that contracted for, should need arise for the property sold before it is available for use, and to credit the amount paid under the contract toward the price of such alternative property.

14. Contracts for Sale Generally.—Every contract for sale of property in a cemetery or columbarium shall identify the lot, plot, niche, or other property to be sold and shall specify the price that may lawfully be charged for it. Every contract for sale shall contain a condition that where the purchaser has not seen the property at the time of making the contract, he may, within a specified period which shall be not less than sixty days, choose alternative property that he has seen that is listed for sale, release the original property, and apply what he has paid on the purchase price thereon to the alternative property. The contract may provide that the purchaser shall have no right to a refund in case what he has paid exceeds the price of the alternative property, and that he shall bear the costs and expenses of disinterment, closing of grave, moving, and reinterment when these result from the exercise of the right granted by this regulation.

15. Restriction on Advance Sales Where Provision for Development Inadequate.—No property shall at any time be sold in any distinct area of a cemetery or columbarium that is not completely developed if up to that time the amount spent on development in that area or set aside in trust for such development is less than the cash received from all prior sales of property therein less amounts set aside therefrom for the care and maintenance fund.

16. Sale of Lots, Plots, and Other Property.—No owner of any cemetery or columbarium shall employ any servant or agent to promote the sale of lots, plots, niches, or other property at a place other than the cemetery or its main business office without the permission of the Commission, nor unless such person is licensed under the "Real-estate Agents' Licensing Act." In applying for permission to so employ any servant or agent, the owner of the cemetery or columbarium shall file with the Commission evidence of the licensing of the person as aforesaid, together with the recommendation of two real-estate owners of the district where the person has, for a continuous period of one year, resided or had his place of business, certifying that he knows the person and that he is honest, truthful, and of good reputation. The applicant shall also furnish evidence to the Commission to show that the employment of such a person is within the powers of the applicant and is desirable for the efficient carrying-out of its objects, and that the person to be employed is well qualified in knowledge of the Statutes and regulations governing the cemetery or columbarium, the prices for property therein, and the provisions for care and maintenance.

17. Sales, etc., Not in Ordinary Course of Business.—Except in the case of the sale, lease, or other disposition by the owner of a cemetery or columbarium of any of the cemetery or columbarium property in the ordinary course of the cemetery or columbarium business, no such owner shall, unless the approval of the Commission is first obtained, sell, assign, transfer, lease, mortgage, or otherwise dispose of or encumber such property or any part thereof.

18. Care and Maintenance of Cemeteries.—(a) On May 1st, 1956, every owner of a cemetery shall file with the Commission a report setting out the method of providing for care and maintenance of the cemetery and the amount spent thereon for that purpose in 1955.

(b) If any fund is already set up to provide for care and maintenance, the report should show:—

- (i) The amount placed in the fund up to December 31st, 1955, and the market value of the fund as at that date;
- (ii) The manner in which the funds were obtained, showing definitely the obligations entered into by the owner of the cemetery with respect to their use;
- (iii) The manner in which the funds have been set aside and invested, and the manner in which the income has been used.

(c) After May 1st, 1956, every owner of a cemetery or columbarium who represents, or who represented at any time in the past, that a fund for care or maintenance of property in the cemetery grounds is maintained, and every other owner who is so ordered by the Commission, shall maintain such a fund for the maintenance of the property sold and of the cemetery of which it forms part.

19. Standard Requirements of Care and Maintenance Funds.—Whenever a fund is required pursuant to Regulation 18, it shall be set up and administered as follows:—

- (i) On all sales of lots, plots, or niches in a cemetery or columbarium, a designated portion of the purchase price shall be specified in the contract of sale as being for the care and maintenance fund. On sales after May 1st, 1956, such portion shall be at least 35 per cent, and in the case of lots and plots shall be not less than 35 cents per square foot, unless a lesser portion or amount is approved by the Commission in any particular case where it is shown to be adequate:

(ii) The funds received for care and maintenance under this regulation shall be accounted for as trust funds, and they shall be invested and the income shall be used accordingly for the sole purpose of maintenance of the property sold and the cemetery or columbarium of which it forms a part:

(iii) Except as herein otherwise provided, the funds received for care and maintenance shall, within thirty days of receipt, be transferred to a trust company under a trust agreement that will provide that the trust is irrevocable and that all investments must be made in accordance with the provisions of the "Trustee Act" or the "Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act" or with a specific approval of the Commission, and may provide that the trust obligations may be transferred to another trust company, and that the trustee may pay the available income for any year to the owner of the cemetery or columbarium up to the amount spent by such owner for maintenance during that year as evidenced by a certificate of the owner, and shall hold or reinvest the balance, such balance and the income therefrom to be available for care and maintenance in future years if required. In the case of a municipality, it may itself hold all funds on the trusts herein specified instead of transferring them to a trust company. In the case of any trust in existence at the date of commencement of these regulations or in the case of any trust involving a small amount, the Commission may authorize, subject to such conditions as to time or otherwise as it may think proper, the administration of the trust by one or more individual trustees instead of a trust company.

20. Records and Returns.—(a) No owner of a cemetery, columbarium, or crematorium shall accept human remains for burial or other disposal without first receiving a copy of the Notice of Registration of Death respecting the deceased, issued by a District Registrar of Births, Deaths, and Marriages under the provisions of the "Vital Statistics Act"; provided that if circumstances render it impossible to obtain registration of the death before the burial or other disposition, the aforesaid owner may accept the human remains without the notice of registration upon being supplied with a warrant to bury signed by a Coroner, and upon obtaining an undertaking from the person delivering the remains that he will obtain and deliver a copy of the notice of registration as soon as possible.

(b) Every owner of a cemetery, columbarium, or crematorium shall keep a record of every interment or other disposition showing the date the human remains were received, the date of interment or other disposition, the name and age of the person, and the location of the last resting-place of the remains, and shall also keep a record of the ownership of all lots, plots, and other places for storing human remains in the cemetery or columbarium and all the transfers thereof.

(c) Within three months after the end of the financial year of a cemetery, columbarium, or crematorium, the owner shall each year file with the Commission a copy of the financial report and such supplemental information as may be necessary to show operating income and expenses for the year. The financial report shall show separately the particulars of the care and maintenance fund and shall include a balance-sheet which, in the case of a company incorporated under the "Companies Act" or the "Cemeteries Companies Act," has been audited by a chartered accountant of British Columbia. The first filing shall be made on May 1st, 1956, and in this case shall be for the financial year ending at any time in 1955.

21. Authority to Waive Regulations.—The Commission may, in any case where it is satisfied that undue or unnecessary hardship would otherwise result, waive any of the provisions of these regulations. Notice of any waiver made pursuant to this regulation shall be published in The British Columbia Gazette within three weeks.

22. Right to Impose Costs Incidental to Application.—The costs of and incidental to any application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, as fixed or taxed by the Commission pursuant to section 129 of the "Public Utilities Act," shall, if so required, be deposited with the Commission before its decision is made.

By virtue of authority reserved to the Public Utilities Commission under paragraph 21 of the aforementioned Cemetery Regulations, the time for compliance with the obligations specified in paragraphs 3, 10, 11, 18, 19 (i), and 20 (c) is extended to July 31st, 1956.

By virtue of authority reserved to the Public Utilities Commission under paragraph 21 of the aforementioned Cemetery Regulations, the period of thirty days allowed for compliance with the obligations specified in paragraphs 3 and 11 is extended to July 31st, 1956.
